

How to Activate a Trial

FSK Audio plug-ins come with a full 14-day trial.

To activate the trial, you will need:

- A free iLok account
- The iLok License Manager application

If you do not have an iLok account, create one at <https://www.ilok.com/#!/registration>

The iLok License Manager can be downloaded here:

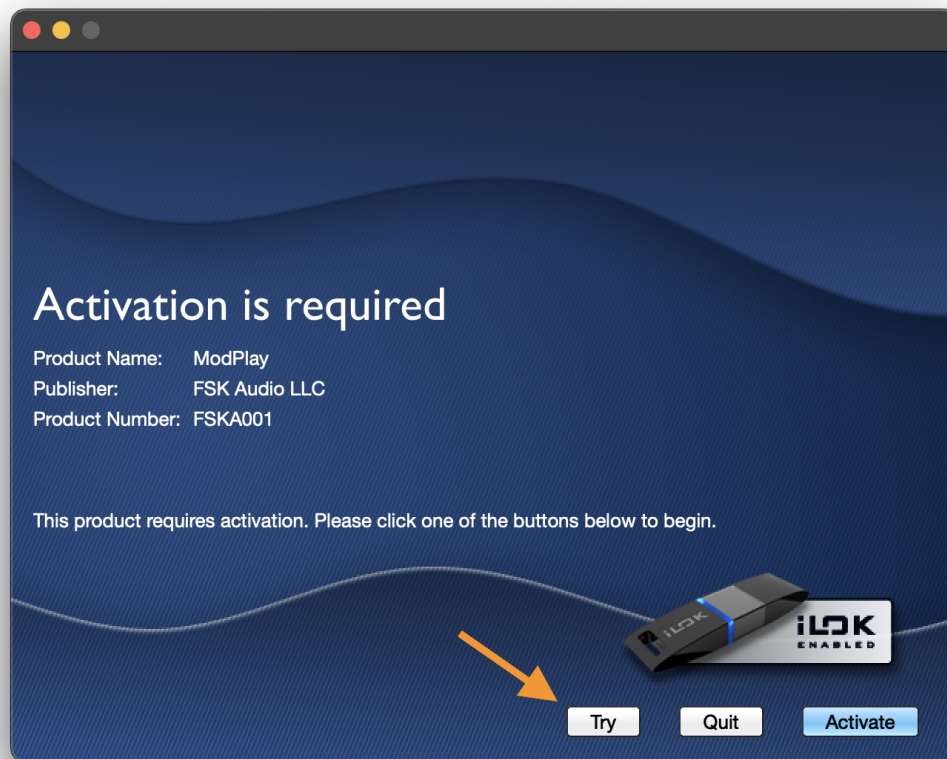

<https://www.ilok.com/#!/license-manager>

A physical iLok device is NOT required.

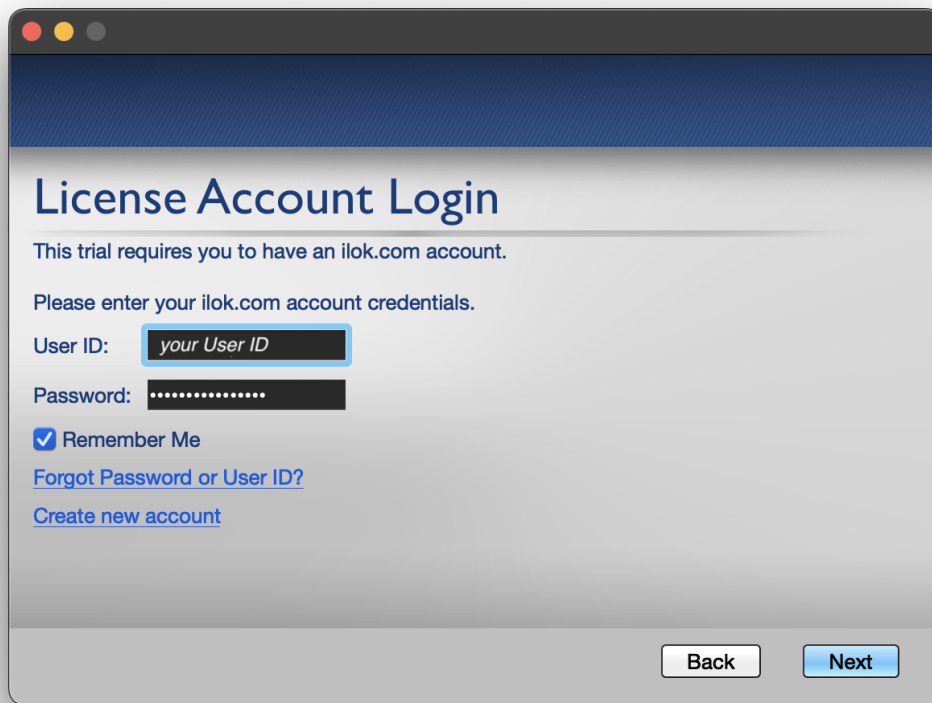

Important! Please make sure to fully complete the activation of your iLok account, and install iLok License Manager before moving onto the next step.

Run the plug-in installer, then launch your DAW.

The following window will appear:

Click on the "Try" button. The sign in window will appear:

A screenshot of a macOS-style window titled "License Account Login". The window has a dark blue header bar. Below the header, the title "License Account Login" is displayed in a large, dark blue font. Underneath the title, a message states: "This trial requires you to have an ilok.com account." followed by "Please enter your ilok.com account credentials." There are two input fields: "User ID:" with a placeholder text "your User ID" and "Password:" with a masked password ".....". Below the password field is a checked checkbox labeled "Remember Me". There are two links: "Forgot Password or User ID?" and "Create new account". At the bottom right, there are two buttons: "Back" and "Next".

License Account Login

This trial requires you to have an ilok.com account.

Please enter your ilok.com account credentials.

User ID:

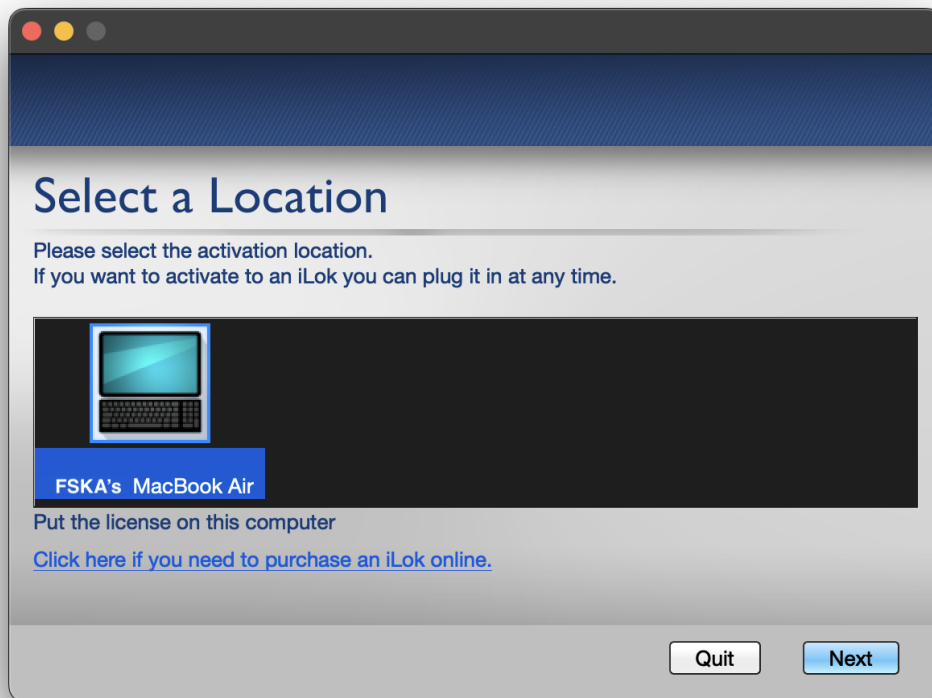

Password:

☒ Remember Me

Forgot Password or User ID?

Create new account

Enter your iLok account credentials and click "Next". The activation location window will appear:

The trial license can be placed on your computer, or an iLok if you have one. Select the activation location and click "Next".

The iLok software will notify you of successful activation. Click “Continue” to complete the process. The FSK Audio plug-in will now appear in your DAW's plug-ins menu.

From time to time, an expiration warning will be displayed as a reminder. To continue with the trial, click on "Continue".